TODAY. A CALL TO SUPPORT OUR BROTHERS AND SISTERS IN

LOUISIANA— The recent storms in Louisiana may not have a name, but the names of those suffering in the wake of the worst flooding since Hurricane Katrina are our sisters and brothers. As a people of God, let us come to their aid. I encourage Catholics across the United States to respond generously on the second collection next weekend. Our prayer and material support in urgently needed to help rebuild lives. As many as 60,000 homes have been damaged, with nearly 20,000 people being rescued from the flood waters. More than 106,000 individuals and families have sought federal disaster aid. Immediate and long-term recovery needs places a tremendous burden on public and private resources. This is a burden we can help carry as the body of Christ. Faced with the loss of their worldly possessions and, in some cases, economic livelihood, the flood waters left thousands of families feeling isolated and fearful.

CATHOLIC SOCIAL TEACHING

key to the readings this Sunday is the final line the Gospel. "You cannot serve both God and mammon." Again this week Jesus asks us about where our heart, our energy and our devotion lie. we committed to God or to the things of this world? Are we aware of the needs of the poor or we trample them with our inattention? The Lord urges us to be wise and clever so we can serve Him in serving those in need.
